Dear Harold & Lil,

Hope this holiday season finds you both doing well. Things around here are fine. My job is still rather hectic, but these days I guess I should feel happy to even have a good job! One bit of news is that I should be a licensed pilot in the very near future! For last Christmas, Mary got me a gift certificate for an "introductory" flying lesson. Naturally, I was hooked, & have been taking flying lesson since last March. I have all of the requirements done except for a few more hours of solo flying. Then I have to take my flight test. I would have been done by now except that the weather lately hasn't been very cooperative — my last few flights have either been rained out, fogged out or snowed out. Hopefully, I'll get a few more nice days for flying soon & can finish up. Maybe I'll fly down ↗ to Frederick this summer!

Peace on Earth

My folks are doing fine, as is Mary & her family, & we all wish you both a very Merry Christmas.

LOVE,

Karen
